

Two Named Merit Scholars

Kathleen Connor

Two relatively new Andover residents have been named winners of four-year, corporate-sponsored National Merit Scholarships.

Kathleen F. Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Connor, 22 Mohawk Drive, is a senior at Phillips Academy, while Sean D. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 51 Hidden Road, is a senior at Andover High.

Connor who moved from Ohio three years ago, receives her award compliments of the General Mills Foundation. At Phillips Academy, while Sean D. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, 51 Hidden Road, is a senior at Andover High.

Connor who moved from Ohio three years ago, received her award compliments of the General Mills Foundation. At Phillips Academy she has been in the Blue Key Society, secretary of the Day Student Council, and in the spring ballet recital. She is considering further studies in the biomedical engineering field, and will be making her choice of a college shortly.

Smith, who moved to Andover from Holmdel, N.J., last summer, receives a scholarship funded by the Digital Equipment Corp. He is considering history as a college major, but is also interested in political science and economics. He has been accepted to Brandeis, Haverford and North Carolina, but is waiting to hear from still others.

At Holmdel, Smith was a member of the National Honor Society, cross country track team, Chess Club, and Chemistry and Math Leagues. He was a distance runner in indoor track at Andover High this winter, and received honorable mention at the Framingham State College Historical Conference.

There are two more rounds of Merit Scholarships to be announced later this month.

School Building Program, Budgets Before Voters As Town Meeting Opens Monday

By Linda S. Corbett

There's something for just about everyone in the upcoming Town Meeting, which will be gavelled to order by Moderator James D. Doherty at 7:30 Monday evening in Phillips Academy's Case Cage.

Voters will get to the town's purse strings right off the bat, as the town and school budgets appear as Article 4 in the Warrant. (The town side of the budget is proposed at $13,384,917, and the school's at $13,010,000.)

The other major money item — an $11.5 million bond issue for the school building program — should come up about Thursday.

But there are assorted items of special and emotional interest scattered throughout the warrant — many of them requiring additional dipping into the community's pockets.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark, who predicts a four-night affair, says the potential problem nights are the two middle ones. If a 350-member quorum is not reached on either Tuesday or Wednesday, town meeting would be postponed at least until Monday the 28th, after school vacation.

Then, Clark says, he doesn't know where it would be held because the town would no longer have the 2,000 rented chairs.

This is the second year for meeting in the PA Cage, just off Highland Road and South Main Street. The meeting was moved from East Jr. High Auditorium last spring, after part of its ceiling had fallen in.

Parking will be on both sides of Highland Road from Main Street to and including Dwight Street (which is one way), on the left side of the road into the tennis courts (exit by Salem Street), on one side of Hidden Field, on both sides of Salem Street, in front of the Commons Building, on Highland Road from Salem Street in to the construction, and on both sides of Phillips Street.

Meeting-goers are urged to bring along the Finance Committee Reports, which were mailed to homes last week. Clark says that to save on printing, only a few extras will be available.

Additional explanations have been included with many of the articles this year, Clark adds, in the interest of saving time at town meeting.

Selectmen at their Monday night meeting issued a statement regarding the importance of adopting the town's budget as presented and agreed upon by the Finance Committee.

In their statement, they point out that while the proposed budget for the next fiscal year exceeds tax cap provisions, every effort has been made to keep expenses down.

It will be necessary for voters at town meeting to approve overriding the tax cap (by some $578,966) by a two-thirds majority, and both selectmen and FinCom recommend this be done.

If the townspeople do otherwise, however, the selectmen have a list of items which can be disapproved in a priority order to cause the "least relative damage."

Selectmen added, however, that disapproval of items in that manner would result in curtailment, and possibly elimination, of some town programs and services.

Chairman Donn Byrne of the Finance Committee (which has been more concerned over tax rate than tax cap), reported to the school committee Tuesday

Town House Topics

Abramson Is Selectman Chairman

James Abramson was named chairman of the board of selectmen Monday night, when the selectmen elected officers for the coming year. Abramson was nominated by former chairman Col. Edward Harris.

The board also elected Norma Gammon as vice chairman, and Susan Poore as secretary.

In other action Monday, night, the selectmen approved the appointments of Andrew Girdwood of Tucker Road to the Planning Board, and of Joseph Smethurst of Lucerne Drive to the Council on Aging.

George Ziady of Regis Road was reappointed to the Andover Industrial Development Financing Authority.

Rabies Clinic Continues

A second Rabies Clinic, sponsored by the Andover Board of Health and conducted by Dr. Richard D. Lindsay, will be held Saturday morning from 8:30 to noon at the rear door entrance of Doherty School Gym. Fee for the vaccination is $4.

By state law, all dogs six months or older must be vaccinated against rabies by a licensed veterinarian and all vaccinated dogs must be revaccinated at intervals not exceeding 24 months. Cats may also be vaccinated at this time, also, they should be vaccinated annually.

In accordance with a town bylaw, dog owners in Andover must present a rabies certificate before a new license can be issued.

Dog license renewals are due during April, and the Town Clerk's staff will also be at the gym for the convenience of residents.

License fees are $4 for males and spayed females and $6 for females.

When registering a spayed dog for the first time, a spayed certificate is required.

Release Time Approved

The school committee Tuesday night approved "released time" for Andover High teachers who are preparing for the high school accreditation team that will be investigating in the fall.

Asst. Supt. Charles Mitsakos said they could well use four or five work sessions, on days when school would be dismissed at 11 o'clock, in addition to after-class time they've already been giving.

He said classes would be

"rotated" so students wouldn't miss any one class more than twice.

Mitsakos said that subcommittees have been at work on self-evaluation. The teachers, he said, have to draw up a syllabus for each course, and the like.

School Committeeman Richard Neal added that self evaluation is "by and large" of "the greatest use."

Licenses And Permits

The selectmen granted the following licenses and permits at Monday night's meeting:

Bay State Gas Co., permission to excavate, to install new services for 84 Argilla Road, Instrumentation Labs at Burr Road, 63 Andover St. and 21 Strawberry Hill Road; to replace services at 22 Lucerne Drive and Sutherland St., and to repair gas mains at 63 Lucerne Drive, 8 Standish Circle, 50 Wildwood Road, 2 Shepley St., Kenilworth and North Main St., and 17 Henderson Ave.

The work was approved subject to being performed to the satisfaction of the director of public works. Sanitary sewer connections were

An evening that has proved popular for young and old alike will be held tomorrow and Saturday, beginning at 8 p.m. at South Church, 41 Central St.

Lively masters-of-ceremonies will introduce a number of acts — which will include soloists, dramatic skits, comedy, the Barbershop Quartet, Madrigal Singers, A Capella Choir and the Chantrelles.

Refreshments will be served to the audience.

Members of the Andover High School choir encourage all in the community to take advantage of this inexpensive evening of entertainment. All proceeds will be used for scholarships, gifts for graduating seniors and for future choir programs.

Tickets are available from any choir student or may be purchased at the door on the night of the performance.

Quartets Perform Saturday

The Greater Lawrence Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., presents their annual show on Saturday, April 12, at 8 p.m. at Andover West Jr. High School.

This year's entertainment features "Showdown," the new quartet champions of the North East District (New England, the eastern edge of New York and five Canadian provinces), plus a double husband and wife team making up the quartet, "Both Sides of the Fence," and the U.S. Government sponsored recent musical emissaries to Romania, the "Merrimack Valley Sweet Adelines" chorus.

The local "Townsmen" chapter, fresh from their narrow competition victory over arch rival Beverly chapter, complete the evening performance.

All reserved seats are now sold — General admission tickets are still available from Richard Gardner, 10 Beaconsfield St., Lawrence.

Marionette Show Continues Culture Series

David Syrotiak And Friend

David Syrotiak's National Marionette Theatre will perform as the second event in the 1980 Andover Series Sunday, May 4 at the West Elementary Auditorium.

A workshop on how the puppets are made and manipulated will begin at 1 p.m.; the "Little Concert" will follow at 3 p.m.

Syrotiak's exquisitely carved marionettes have traveled more than 45,000 miles and have performed more than 200 times each season. They have toured extensively in the United States, Mexico, Canada and Europe.

Syrotiak's National Marionette Theatre has won numerous awards including a citation for excellence in the field of adult puppetry from U.N.I.M.A. (Union International de la Marionette). It was the first American company to receive this award.

Syrotiak's puppetry is a synthesis of the arts: sculpture, design, music, mime, dance and theatre. And the puppet itself . . . "it is at once an everyman with no limitations . . . It is the crystallization of the imagination and magic of the puppeteer."

Funds for the National Marionette Theatre are provided in part by the Massachusetts Council of the Arts and Humanities and the Andover Savings Bank.

Tickets for this performance will be available by Monday, April 14, at the Department of Community Services, 36 Bartlet St.

Andover WEEBUS is provided within the town and between Andover and any other Greater Lawrence city or town weekdays, between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Reservations must be made 24 hours in advance.

In order for a person with a physical or mental handicap to use WEEBUS, the individual must obtain a certification form from the MVRTA, and have it filled out by a physician or social service agency. Call or write the MVRTA office, 200 Merrimack St., Haverhill 01830, for a form.

A photo ID will then be necessary to use the WEEBUS, and the Main Street office of the Andover Savings Bank has been established as a photo ID center. William Schultz, administrator of the MVRTA, has expressed appreciation to Robert Henderson and Sandy Brown of the bank, for their cooperation.

For more information on the Andover WEEBUS, call the MVRTA or the Council on Aging.

Haverhill Gets First Of The New Buses

By Randolph Lehman-Becker
Representative to the MVRTA

The Haverhill system portion of the MVRTA has received the new City Cruiser buses that will become the regular service coaches on their lines. They replace a group of 1961 GM coaches and a few 1952-3 GM buses.

The new buses represent the first portion of an up-grading of equipment that will, by Fall 1980, bring new buses to the entire system. The Advanced Design Buses on order for Greater Lawrence should be received and placed in service by then.

The new equipment, unlike the present equipment that is leased from the various carriers involved, will be owned by the MVRTA, and is financed in major measure by Federal funding. The ownership of the buses will allow the MVRTA to seek management/operating contracts with the best cost/benefit provisions for our communities without being bound to those who already have buses to operate. The MVRTA does not itself operate any of its services; while it may provide equipment, the operations are all carried out by contractual operators who are bound to meet service standards to continue in such contractual agreement. This is a major difference between the local transit authority and the MBTA which operates its own service.

Some of the features of the new equipment includes calculator fare-boxes that will determine the cash flow automatically, making accounting on the various runs both easy and reliable. Radios for the buses will keep all the fleet in contact with the central dispatch facility, so that delays, special needs, and security problems can be relayed quickly. Of course, passenger comfort in terms of reliable heating systems, good seating, and lighting will be true on both types of new buses.

Plans now call for the re-use of the existing buses through a special Federal program of re-fitting and re-building that will render them good for five to 10 years of supplemental, peak-hour service at a fraction of new purchase costs. So, after such a period of re-building, the present buses will appear as the back up fleet, and as the buses necessary to add service during the rush hours so that we may see 15 to 30 minute service on most lines.

Lecture Opens Library Week

Charles Pringle

Charles E. Pringle of London will present a program, "English Delights for the Discriminating Traveler", Sunday, April 13, at 2 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library. Following the lecture, a traditional English Tea will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. John Appleton and including Mrs. Alan Bernard, Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. Leonard Carrick and Mrs. Alan Thoday.

Pringle, an archaeologist, author and lecturer, has taken part in excavations of Bronze Age settlements on the South Downs of England, published a number of articles for the Bourne Society on local history and lectured throughout England on such topics as England's stately homes, Churches of East Surrey and historic monuments of England.

His illustrated lecture at Memorial Hall Library will combine highlights of his many programs and will suggest places to visit and things to see for the discriminating traveler. This lecture marks the opening of National Library Week April 13 to 19 at Memorial Hall Library, a week filled with special programs and exhibits, all of which are open to the public without charge.

This Is Week For Aluminum

By Virginia Cole

This has been paper week, but it is also aluminum week.

From 9 to 4, behind Town Hall, Andover Recycling will be collecting aluminum to be recycled. We can only sell and therefore will only accept, all-aluminum cans. Foil and TV dinner trays are fine too. But the cans have to be checked with a magnet; even the steel ones crush easily. A magnet won't stick to aluminum and those are the ones we want.

If you don't have a magnet, we do and we will help you check the cans. Although we read about U. S. Steel wanting steel cans, so far they don't want them badly enough to buy in New England.

A few soft drinks, Shastas for instance, a few food cans, sardines and roast beef hash, and many, but not all beer cans are aluminum. Old aluminum pots and pans must have all rivets (steel) and plastic handles removed to be saleable. Old lawn furniture must have the same treatment. We sell to Reynolds Aluminum and they are very particular. They just don't pass out their dollars for mixed metal.

If you haven't saved aluminum all winter, start now for our next collection. We will be behind the Town Hall old Sidewalk Bazaar Saturday, June 21. You can drink a lot of beer by then. Take your magnet to the store and buy only "aluminum" beer.

Artists Invited To Join In Jubilee

An opportunity for artists of New England to exhibit work during "Jubilee 350," the 350th anniversary of the city of Boston is being offered through an open competition for artists of New England. It's sponsored by Boston's Colonial Provision Company, the "Jubilee 350" office of the mayor and the Copley Society of Boston.

The theme for the competition, "The New England Mood, Past and Present" is reflected in the painting by Childe Hassam (1859-1935) a former member of the Copley Society and noted Boston painter.

Painters, printmakers and sculptors are invited to submit their impressions in a variety of styles intended to illustrate the depth, scope, diversity and quality being created today by artists.

This exhibit of 200 works will be held during July, in the "New England Comes to Boston" segment of the Jubilee festivities. The exhibition will be shown concurrently at the galleries of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and the Copley Society of Boston.

Jurors for the competition are Charles Fergusson, director of the New Britain (Conn.) Museum of American Art; Bartlett Hayes, director emeritus of the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy; and Theodore Stebbins, curator of American Paintings at the Museum of Fine Arts. Work will be received at the end of May for jurying. A prospectus with information for the competition can be obtained by writing or calling the Copley Society of Boston, 158 Newbury St., Boston, MA 02116.

Capturing New England

Boston Mayor Kevin White, at left, Jack Satter, chairman of the board of the Colonial Provision Co., and Lynn Loscutt of Andover, director of the Copley Society of Boston, admire a painting by Childe Hassam, entitled "The Mood of New England Past & Present." That's also the theme of an open competition for artists of New England, to be held as part of Jubilee 350.

The Copley Society, Boston's own 100-year-old art association, is celebrating its 100th anniversary and offers this competition and exhibition of the city of Boston. The Society, oldest continuous Art Association in America, is dedicated to fostering the visual arts with a special dedication toward showing the works of contemporary artists. With a focus on public education they have sponsored the first major exhibition of John Singer Sargent in the United States, The Armory Show, exhibitions of Winslow Homer, James McNeill Whistler, Maxfield Parrish and Dodge MacKnight. It offers classes, lectures, arts festivals and exhibitions to the public. Its membership is made up of artists and those who support the arts.

Car Springs

If your car is riding low, it may need new springs. However, installing new leaf springs is usually an expensive proposition, points out the ALA Auto and Travel Club, so you may want to look into installing "helper springs."

F.A.S.T. Week Underway!

The annual F.A.S.T. (Fight Against Starvation Today) week is now in progress as it shows for the seventh time the care Andover students have for the starving of the world. When Bruce Dewire started this program at W.J.H. it was much smaller than it is today. F.A.S.T. is now a part of the high school, the other junior high, Pike School, St. Augustine School, and all the elementary schools. Co-chairmen in charge this year at West, Christine Kubacki and Lillian Wang, have carefully planned the activities for this week. Some events that have taken place thus far are, the rice and water meal, the canned food drive, and the foodless bakesale. Tomorrow night the F.A.S.T. Dance will take place at West. There will be a decrease in admission if students bring three canned goods to the dance. On Sunday, April 13, the second annual Walk-a-thon will take place. All ages will participate in this fund raising activity, including Representative Jim Shannon. Those who finish will receive a painter's cap that says F.A.S.T. 1980. The total goal this year is set at $12,000. With an effort from the whole town we can Fight Against Starvation Today.

The spring sports season has begun at West and students are taking advantage of the many available choices. Bill Fleischmann and Dave Gangi are again in charge of the Eighth and Ninth Grade Softball Team. Steve Tisbert is coaching the Ninth Grade Baseball Team while John MacDonald is coaching the eighth. Karl Lippmann and Ms. Kennedy lead the Track Teams.

Work is underway for the newly-planned school publication. This high-quality booklet, containing the best work of West Jr. High students, will be widely distributed among Andover's townspeople. A variety of topics will be covered in the Publication such as: creative writing and poetry, science, art, and a selection of puzzles and games.

Last week, students were busy submitting their works to the teachers in charge of the program. Some of these faculty representatives from each grade were Mr. Brian Staples, Mrs. Margaret Serley, Mrs. Nora Harrison and Mrs. Louise Tomlinson.

Another school publication — West Side Story — is also approaching its deadline. Ms. Tricia Flaherty, faculty advisor for the newspaper, has been busy receiving articles for the third edition. Stories expected are a mock national election, a F.A.S.T. bulletin, a Boys and Girls Gymnastics update, a WESTern Star report, plus the regular features: faculty focus, student personalities, gossip, clubs and games.

AHS Notebook

By Renee Pruneau

"Energy for the 80's" is the slogan of a new committee at Andover High. This committee is composed of both students and faculty. It is the energy committee whose meetings are always being announced on the P.A. system but no one ever really knows what the group does.

The energy committee came about as a result of an independent research project done by senior, Cara Cheyette, for the social studies department. She is also the coordinator of the committee.

What the committee's goal is, is to make people, namely those in our school aware of energy alternatives and their impact of the economy and the environment. They especially wish people to become aware of costs (for example, the cost of insulating your home and the different insulations available).

A week of programs are planned to help develop this awareness. April 28 through May 2 there will be a variety of techniques to insure this plan works. Speakers will be brought in, films and reprints will be used. On May 1 at 8 p.m., a debate between the nuclear energy experts will be held at the West Junior High Auditorium. On April 30 a van will be at the high school with a group who will give solar power demonstrations. A videotape is being made of Lawrence's rejuvenations of its canal system by the committee members. Such places as the Museum of Science have been contacted and invited to send speakers, films and or demonstrations on energy.

Hartley Peakes is the faculty advisor for this horrendous project. It looks very interesting as well as informative. The public is invited to attend any of the exhibitions. More details will be forthcoming.

Carrier's Year-round One heat pump is an efficient, economical heating and cooling system all by itself. It can replace any old, worn-out forced-air furnace.

But if your forced-air furnace (electric, gas, or oil) is in good shape, you can add a heat pump to it — and get really low heating costs! That's because your new combination furnace-heat pump system heats with either the furnace or heat pump. Depending on outside temperature, the system automatically chooses whichever heating method can save you the most money!

Add a Carrier Year-round One — get lower heating bills and high-efficiency air conditioning, too!

East Jr. High Happenings

By Heidi Lasch
And Amy Higgins

Monday, April 7, was the beginning of F.A.S.T. week here at East. To kick off the week's activities a representative from CARE, Mr. Richard Calandrello, came to speak to the students at East about the organization. Included in the fundraising activities are a foodless bake sale which has been running all week, a rice and water meal which was served today, a car wash to be held from 9 a.m. to noon in the East Junior High parking lot on Saturday, April 12, the cost being $1 per car; and a walk-a-thon to be held Sunday, April 13. Nancy Trepanier, Janice Gable, Jim Denoncourt, Donna Russell, and Arthur Muldoon were in charge of organizing these activities. The goal of this year's F.A.S.T. week is to exceed last year's total of $10,000.

Some new student activities are being organized for the spring term including a CPR course offered by Miss Susan Brown, a gardening club organized by Mr. Richard Stevens of the science department and a coin club established by Mr. Charles Labelle of the social studies department.

Recently the seventh and eighth grade English classes entered an essay contest sponsored by the Bay State Gas Company. The theme was "Energy Alternatives and Changing Lifestyles." Finalists included: Jenni Lewis, Peter MacDonald and Jeff Vogel from the seventh grade. Eighth grade finalists were Joby Bardetti, Gay Bates, Michael Drozdick, Catherine Merrill, Kirk Orrell, Abby Robb and Timothy Wright.

The student council is planning an Impressions Day to be held May 2. On this day the students are encouraged to dress up as anyone they want. A dance will be held that evening to end the day's activities.

East Junior High is planning their annual spring concert May 7. Scheduled to perform are the junior high choruses and band and a variety of acts. Admission will be $1 and refreshments will be served.

Students, parents and friends of East Junior High recently explored the world of mathematics at the Math Fair held here at East. ## Mime Performances At The Junior Highs

On Monday, Stromberg and Cooper, will give variety programs called "The Best of Both," at East Jr. High Auditorium and at 10:15 at West Jr. High Auditorium.

Bob Stromberg is a singer, storyteller and mime. His story telling began when he was old enough to speak and his singing shortly after. He has written more than 150 songs and recorded many of them.

Michael Cooper is an accomplished actor, who became interested in this ancient art while majoring in theatre at the University of Maine. His studies began under Tony Montanaro at Celebration Mime Theatre and continued in Paris, France.

"The Best of Both" is a program of variety; it is highly comical, wholesome and fun. It explores every facet of the art of mime. It is personal style theatre focusing on character and silent mime, dialogue, monologue and original mime and music.

The program was written especially for junior and senior high school students and has been warmly received. Through original music, comedy and participation, the students actually create an exciting learning experience.

Parents of students who take part in these events are cordially invited to attend also.

The presentations of "The Best of Both" are made possible through the support of the Town Deli, Inc. of Andover.

PREMIUM NEW YORK STATE

SEYVAL BLANC

This rare varietal white table wine combines the delightful taste and aroma of fresh fruit with a remarkably delicate, dry finish.

From this French-American grape variety, created by crossing several Seibel varieties, we produce a wine with the apple-sweet tones of a dry French Chardonnay. New York State plantings are limited by its delicate nature that requires selected slopes with the best drainage, well protected from the elements. A tendency to overcrop often makes cluster thinning necessary, but carefully tended, Seyval Blanc ripens in early October, into medium large golden berries in big shoulder clusters. Our winemaker takes special care to ferment it at cool temperatures, to hold its special fruity taste and aromatics, further developed through storage in wood casks. Great Western Seyval Blanc is best appreciated when served chilled.

Secret Pal Banquet Is Monday

Monday evening at 6 p.m. the annual Secret Pal Banquet of Andover Baptist Church's Friendly Circle will be held in the church vestry.

This is one of the happiest meetings of the year for members of the Friendly Circle and the elderly members of the congregation with whom it is shared.

Each Circle member participating in the Secret Pal Program annually selects the name of a senior citizen of the congregation to remember as a "Secret Pal" on special days throughout the year. The April banquet concludes the year and is the occasion for revealing their secret pals identity to the senior members.

Esther Estell, under whose direction the "Pal" program was started more than 10 years ago, has continued the loving task of supervising and keeping the "secret" record of the names each year. Mrs. Estell, Helen Thompson, Pat Stocks, and Circle president, Dorothy Gordon are planning Monday's program.

Mooney.

During the service, membership chairperson Joyce Robinson, will read the scripture lesson and Cheryl Campbell, superintendent of the Church School, will present each youth with a Bible. Mr. Hollenbeck will preach the sermon entitled, "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star".

School Committee Supports Beacon Street Signals

The school committee Tuesday night voted support for a private warrant article which would put a flashing school light on Beacon Street, near West Elementary School.

Article 31, inserted by "Vera Friese and Others," would appropriate some $6,500 to warn cars traveling both north and south, of the school zone.

School Committeeman Joseph Finn said he had never been made aware of any need for signals, but Chairman Elaine Viehmann had met with a supporter this week, and reported that police had investigated the situation.

Though the area doesn't meet one of the criteria for traffic lights — the youngsters don't actually cross the street there — Viehmann said the police had apparently agreed that the street is a "runway," and that "a dangerous situation" does exist. She said they had found the "traffic pattern very dense," and that the school is not apparent "until you're right up on it."

Andover Education President James Redmond, on hand for approval of the teacher's contract, added that he has often seen youngsters from the Chandler Circle neighborhood cross there, as they shortcut across the Andover Country Club golf course between the school and their homes.

He said he has personally witnessed two accidents involving cars turning in and out of the school, and that the bushes alongside the road also make visibility difficult.

The committee voted 4-0 to support the article (Committeeman Donald Robb was absent.)

The committee voted disapproval of Article 18, which would appropriate $50,000 for a chain link fence around Bancroft School.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said it was the town manager's feeling that fences around property would only make it more difficult for the police to control vandalism, and that the town manager hopes to provide a security gate at the rear of the property, through Article 17.

Four to zero approval was given Article 28, an energy conservation program that would be 50 percent reimbursed by federal or state grants, and Article 27, the central maintenance advisory question, with some minor changes. The committee noted that Article 39, which would provide a revolving fund for PTO's, would not likely be withdrawn.

The committee a few meetings ago had gone on record against Article 64, the sale of Bancroft School with proceeds to go toward renovation of East Jr. High.

They of course support Article 28, which the selectmen had inserted on their behalf, for $387,500 to repair West Elementary, Shawsheen and Bancroft roofs; as well as Article 65, the $11.5 million bonding article for the school renovation/building program, and Article 66, for reuse study of East Jr. High.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert added Tuesday night that if private citizens were going to insert articles, and hope for school committee approval, "They ought to come before the school committee and explain what it is they want."

"The forum is here," he said.

Wetlands Bylaw Draws Fire From Builders

The Conservation Commission's proposed wetlands protection bylaw, Warrant Article 47, drew fire from angry builders and homeowners at a public hearing before the commission recently, despite the fact that the bylaw is intended to parallel existing state law.

"The purpose of the bylaw is to keep the structure of the laws we already have, which have been working relatively well," Conservation Commission Chairman Robert Pustell told a group of nearly 60 residents and developers last Tuesday.

However, the "degree of interest and enforcement" of the state's regulatory agency, the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE), "varies with the administration," Pustell explained.

Furthermore, there is currently a move toward "substantial relaxations" of current regulations before the state legislature, Pustell said. "Under the proposed bylaw, even if the state changes its position, ours will remain the same."

"We can't predict the future," the chairman said. "The state regulations may or may not change. If not, then this bylaw will be unnecessary." However, in that case, Pustell added, the proposed bylaw "won't effect anybody (differently than the state law). We will administer it concurrently with the state law, through the same channels that now exist, and those channels will cover both purposes."

The bylaw differs from the state law in two areas, said Pustell: First, it extends the control of the Conservation Commission to include "recreation and aesthetics" of town wetlands, two areas not included under current state law (Chapter 131, section 40).

Second, the bylaw would allow local enforcement through the superior court, rather than through the DEQE, and "will give us access to civil, rather than criminal penalties," Pustell said, calling this process "less cumbersome."

Director of Community Planning and Development Rhys Kear estimated that 40 percent of the town would fall under the protection of the bylaw.

Builders and homeowners who spoke out against the bylaw were opposed to extending the Conservation Committee's power, calling the by-law unnecessary and undesirable.

"I find it an incredible assertion that this bylaw parallels the (existing) state law," said Richard Asoian of Bateson Drive. "Aesthetic and 'recreation' are ambiguous terms as they are used here — this bylaw would expand the power of this board substantially. How can you call this a minor change?"

William Foster of Central Street drew applause when he said that under the bylaw homeowners within 100 feet of a brook would be "subject to the absolute control of the Conservation Commission. I would need permission to cut down trees in my backyard, or mow the grass, or cut weeds," Foster said.

"This bylaw could deprive the property owner of the use of large chunks of his own property, without compensation," he continued. "I am very shocked the would even consider this bylaw."

As more land is developed, the possibility of flooding problems will increase, Pustell answered. "What each one of us does affects the entire community, particularly with concern to water," he said.

"This bylaw represents an effort to make it difficult — it will never be impossible — to cause radical disruptions in the flow of water as a substance of life into reservoirs and other water ways," said Pustell.

He added that there was "no question" of compensating homeowners because there would be "no confiscation of land."

Don Sorrie of Abbot Bridge Drive said the single-family homeowner would bear "the brunt" of the bylaw: "I feel bound on all sides by more and more restrictions. Now I can't even clear the dead trees from the creek behind my house without being in violation (of a bylaw)."

Pustell answered that "no one would say boo" to Sorrie if he removed trees from the creek without a permit.

Attorney Reginald Marden, representing several builders, said the bylaw "solves no problems, and creates a host of them." Marden said the builders particularly objected to the prospect of

Approval Of Streets Is Delayed

Until remaining physical improvements are completed on Brady Loop, Monahan Lane, and Buchan Road, the selectmen will not consider laying out those streets for acceptance, the board said Monday night.

Although Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark recommended the three streets be laid out, Selectman Susan Poore said the board would "prefer to wait until everything is finished. As long as things are remaining to be done, we will wait — that's the way the board has always done it."

Chairman James Abramson asked that the board be given a progress report on the streets before they come up for town meeting vote next week, as Warrant Articles 20 and 45.

The selectmen will consider laying out Apple Blossom Road, Forrest Hill Drive, Old Schoolhouse Road and Sandlewood Lane, Monday night before town meeting begins.

Neighbors Still Oppose Scaled-Down Lot

THE TOWNSMAN, APRIL 10, 1980

The owner of Olde Andover Village has cut back the proposed size of a parking lot he wishes to build on now town-owned land, but neighbors remain convinced the lot would create increased flooding problems for their homes, the selectmen learned Monday night.

The sale of a wooded lot now owned by the town to Peter Onanian, Olde Andover Village owner, must be approved by town meeting through Warrant Article 53.

The 24,800 square foot lot runs from Main Street along the current Olde Andover Village property and into the wooded area behind the existing village parking lot.

In an effort to compromise with the abutters, who two weeks ago told selectmen they oppose the plan, Onanian has scaled down the size of the originally proposed lot from 24,000 to 10,000 square feet, to accommodate 23 rather than 50 spaces.

Neighborhood residents fear a parking lot of any size would increase flooding problems they already have with their homes by eliminating what is now used as a water retention area.

"We were very happy about the new School Street drainage system the town is planning to build," Fernand Bernardin, 49 School St., said Monday. "But we are now concerned that this parking lot will hurt what we thought was going to be the solution to our problems."

John McGettrick of 45 School St., said that although his land does not directly abut the Village, "I already have massive water problems in my cellar, and this won't help."

The empty lot also serves as a "physical and visual barrier that separates the downtown business district from the residential section," said School Street resident Dr. Lowell Rosman.

"A parking lot would obliterate this visual protection for the neighborhood. It would benefit a single businessman at the expense of many other people," Rosman said.

Atty. Phillip Sullivan, representing Onanian, told the selectmen the owner had reduced the area and number of spaces by 50 percent in an effort to satisfy the abutters.

The new plans would include more screening, fencing and planting, to serve as a buffer between the business and residential zones, Sullivan said. By leaving half the trees in the lot, the water problem will probably be lessened as well, he added.

In addition, the town's planned comprehensive drainage system could be designed to accommodate run-off from the new lot, Sullivan said.

"The drainage problem is being addressed," said Sullivan. "We are not denying it."

Town meeting approval of the sale would merely be "step one," said Sullivan. "The sale would be subject to the conditions imposed by your board (the selectmen). You will hear from all the abutters. And we would have to go before the Conservation Commission."

"If the (Conservation) Commission says we can't put in the lot, we can't put in the lot," he continued. "I believe your town boards are responsible enough not to allow a fiasco to go in there."

Sullivan reminded the selectmen that, under the conditions of the sale, the Onanians would repair the sidewalk on Main Street in front of the Village, "which would be an advantage to the town."

In answer to a question raised by Selectman Norma Gammon two weeks ago, Sullivan said that under zoning bylaws the new lot was not necessary to allow the owner to build an addition onto the Village building.

"We don't actually need one more space to build an addition," he said. "But it would be good business practice to add more — you really need open spaces in the downtown area."

The new lot would include sticker and patron parking, said Sullivan, which would leave more spaces free in the adjacent town lot.

"As it stands now, I am opposed to this lot," said Gammon, "because the abutters will suffer, and it's not worth it for 23 parking spaces."

However, Chairman James Abramson said the selectmen would delay taking a position on the article until 7 p.m. Tuesday, when Director of Public Works Robert McQuade will provide more information on the drainage system.

Vale Station Proposal Not An Agenda Item

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark will not present his proposal to build a new $500,000 fire station and branch library in Ballardvale, as an alternative to repairing the community center, at town meeting — but there's a "good possibility" that a Ballardvale resident will, Clark said last week.

"I will not present the proposal at town meeting," Clark said. "People from Ballardvale will have to raise it." But if they do, he added, Clark will be ready to describe the plan, "how it fits within the overall financial planning process of the town, and the benefits and costs associated with it."

Clark presented his plan to build a fire station with a branch library above it to the selectmen earlier in the week, but the selectmen took no action on the recommendation.

The library would be built on the site of the Ballardvale Community Center, Clark said.

An architectural study recently completed by Richard Landry & Associates shows it will cost $300,000 to repair the community center, three times the amount requested in warrant Article 13, which was inserted by Ballardvale residents.

Faced with tax cap legislation and forced to reduce services wherever possible — which Andover is finding "very, very difficult" to do — the town should not invest that amount of money into repairing the community center, the manager said.

"That would not make economic sense," he explained. However, there is "a great deal of merit in the town trying to do something for Ballardvale," Clark added.

His alternative plan to build a new fire station in the Ballardvale area "would be an appropriate investment, to provide more adequate fire protection for a significant portion of the town's industrial tax base, and to protect personal lives and property in Ballardvale as well," said Clark.

The existing Ballardvale fire station is already scheduled to be replaced "sometime during 1981-82," the town manager added.

A branch library could be built above the new fire station because "the community itself has identified a branch library as important to them," Clark explained. "In a way, having a branch library is more important to Ballardvale than to any other single section of the community."

Ballardvale residents feel the town should make an investment in improving the area, to "in some way reduce the detrimental effects of industry in the area," Clark said. "They have to put up with heavy truck traffic that services industry in Lowell Junction, and rough roads."

"Ballardvale has industry right in its midst," he said, "and it is highly visible to the community, which is not the case in other sections of the community — at least not to the same extent."

The Boston Marathon course is 26 miles, 385 yards long.

"Madwoman" Opens Friday

The Andover Community Theatre's production of "The Madwoman of Chaillot" opens tomorrow night for a three-weekend run.

The curtain will go up in the West Elementary School auditorium and then again on April 18-19 o'clock and 25-26. Tickets for all performances may be obtained at the door.

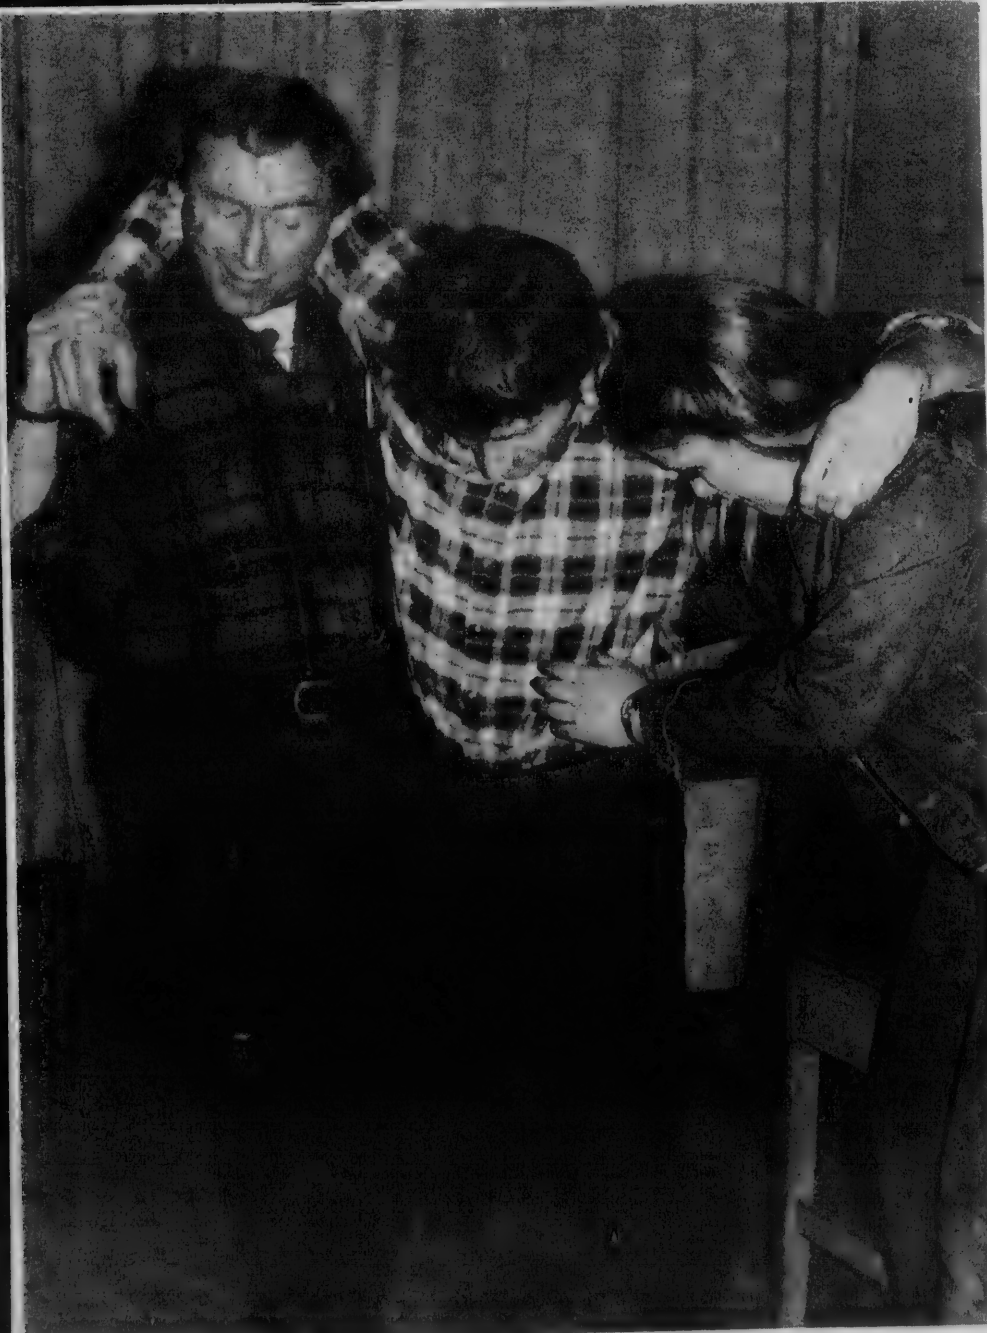

"Madwoman" is directed by Kim Enders, a newcomer to ACT, while Marianne Karp is featured in the title role. ACT President Marshall Darling will play the Ragpicker and William Becker, English Department Head at the Andover High, the Prospector. Three members of the Lewis family — Karin, Sylvia and Harvey — also have roles in the play.

The set and costumes for Madwoman were designed by Dana Ivy, who is also playing Gabrielle. Julie Pike, a past-president of ACT, is the production manager.

ACT is an amateur group sponsored by Andover Community Services Department.

Cast members of "The Madwoman of Chaillot," shown in rehearsal, are, clockwise from bottom: Marshall Darling as The Ragpicker, catching up on his sleep; Marianne Karp as Countess Aurelia, observes the action; Barbara Wackowski as The Greedy Woman, eavesdropping on a nearby conversation; Bill Becker, The Prospector, relaxing at the cafe; John O'Connor as The Policeman and Joni Coleman as The Deaf-Mute, helping George Kwicien (Peter) across the stage; and Joni Coleman miming an important message.

Why An Auditorium?

A Letter to the People of Andover From a Teacher At the High School:

Next week is Town Meeting and something very important in the life of Andover High and its students is at stake; an auditorium. Can I prove beyond all doubt that we must have one? I doubt it.

Proving the High School needs an auditorium is like proving a house needs a living room. There isn't much done in a living room that cannot be adequately done in the kitchen or dining room. But no house built today is without one. For the last twelve years we have honestly tried to use the West Junior High auditorium. It's like using your neighbor's living room. It's just not practical. Eventually you stop doing what normal people do in a living room and a part of you isn't there anymore. But that too is very hard to prove.

Most of our student body has never heard the choir in concert; never heard the orchestra; or seen the drama club perform. We don't built community so we don't even realize what we're missing.

Last year the National Energy Office sent us an excellent science program which we scheduled into the choral room during a free period. When the scientist arrived he took one look at the facility and got back into his van saying "You don't even have a stage?"

What could we do with an auditorium which we do not do now?

- 1) We would have some of the super science shows the other high schools get.
- 2) The next time Paul Tsongas comes more than 30 students can hear him.
- 3) We can provide inspirational programs to the entire student body.
- 4) We can view visiting cultural groups.
- 5) We can hold Guidance assemblies on Careers and college placement.
- 6) Students can perform in front of their peers which helps bond a student body together.

On a very personal note some very dedicated teachers have worked hard over the years to bring a spirit to our student body. I know it is essential. If you don't accept this I probably can't prove it to you. If you do accept it no proof is necessary. I ask you — please, come to Town Meeting and vote yes on Article 65; to upgrade our secondary school facilities. Since it's a bonding issue a two thirds vote is required so we need you very much. Thanks.

Town Meeting

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

In reference to our Open Town Meeting April 14, may I make the following suggestions to help improve the vein of Andover Town Meetings.

No. 1 — To enact the business of the Town of Andover with intelligence — stability and knowledge.

No. 2 — All voters including myself study and do our homework on important articles to vote according to necessity.

Andover's financial status is good. Of the 351 cities and towns in Massachusetts we are financially well off — therefore we need to live within our means and not overspend and not expect help from the State. Governor Edward King has plenty of problems involving the 351 cities and towns without Andover adding to them.

Voters at Town Meeting should be more interested to retain East Jr. High in its present location with renovations — it is a well structured building which counts a great deal in regards to renovation. It is a landmark and it would be disastrous to do otherwise. A landmark once destroyed can not be replaced. As a member of the Andover Historical Society, that is the way I see it and also as a private citizen interested in my Town of Andover. I would like to hear other people's views on this issue.

Quite a number of people in Andover do not understand our Reserve Fund and the purpose thereof — it is for emergencies that may arise such as floods caused by the Shawsheen River and blizzards like 1978 which cost plenty, and any other emergency that may arise in the future. We must be prepared at all times as this is a very important matter. The Town of Andover needs to put a cap on our Reserve Fund as well as water mains — so not to overspend on non-essential things that people request.

Town Manager — elected officials — elected committees — plus appointed committees by the Town Manager need to understand fully, the future of Andover is in their hands and work accordingly. Therefore it puts a great responsibility on their part to do their homework to make them more capable in positions they hold in Andover in 1980 and thereafter.

I would like to sign off with — It is being good at what we do and say that counts.

'Vale Residents Ask Building Be Spared

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A recently completed architect's study shows it will cost approximately $300,000 to repair the Ballardvale community center — three times the amount requested in warrant article 13 — and not surprisingly, Ballardvale residents are not satisfied with that report, they told selectmen Monday night.

The $4700 report was compiled by Andover architect Richard E. Landry & Associates, with the assistance of structural engineers Souza and True, Inc., of Cambridge, and electrical and plumbing engineers McCabe Associates of North Andover.

Landry's report recommends that the interior of the building be gutted, Clark said, and a new structure built inside the shell. "I am not saying the town should do this," the town manager said, "but that is the extent of the work required."

Major costs of the renovation involve strengthening the floors and making the building accessible to the handicapped, Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark told the selectmen.

"The floors must support 100 lbs. per square foot, under current building codes, and they currently support 15 to 20 lbs," said Clark. "A number of floor joists have given way."

Elevators for the handicapped could cost up to $65,000, Landry said. That cost could be cut by $12 — 15,000 if the elevator does not stop at the third floor — meaning the third floor must be abandoned — but a handicapped toilet would then have to be added to the lower level, Landry said, at a cost of $10,000.

Both the selectmen and the Ballardvale residents balked at the town manager's contention that the building must be torn down this summer if it is not repaired, because it is in danger of collapsing.

"I'm not willing to accept that opinion at this point," said Chairman James Abramson. "The town manager will have to justify tearing it down to the selectmen — that building has been in poor condition for 20 years."

Abramson asked the residents to withdraw their article because "I don't think it will be helpful." Instead, he asked the residents to form a committee to meet with the selectmen to discuss the future of the building before the next town meeting, next fall or spring.

The residents did not agree to withdraw the article Monday night, but asked for assurances that the building would not be torn down this summer if they do so.

Bernice Haggerty of Andover Street said the report should have been compiled by "someone who is used to older buildings. Mr. Landry, your report is too good for our little building," she said.

The town manager replied that Landry was chosen for his experience and knowledge of restoring "other historic buildings within the Commonwealth."

Other residents called for a "second opinion" on the cost of restoring the building. "We spent a lot of money for this report, and personally I think it was for nothing," said Ernest Hall, who said he was "a lifelong resident of Ballardvale."

"We have talent in this town — this report could've been put out for $25," said Hall.

Landry's report already constitutes a second opinion, Clark said. "The condition of the structure of the building was first reported by the building inspector's department — and the building inspector was not the first to note the condition of the building," he added.

Rather than being a precipitous action, "at long last we have stood up and said, here's the truth about this building," said the town manager.

Haggerty, however, urged that Ballardvale residents be given more time to save the building. "Why are you talking about a new fire station so fast?" she asked Clark. "There is too much going on too fast."

Tenure Granted 21 Teachers

By Linda S. Corbett

Twenty-one Andover teachers were elected to tenure Tuesday night, despite declining enrollments and the dreaded "reduction in force."

The administration assured the school committee there were slots for each of those teachers, as well as for two program advisors and 17 teachers on the first re-election and 17 on second re-election.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert noted that contract teachers must be notified by April 15 if they're not going to be rehired for the coming year, and that he had so notified one teacher who was due for tenure and another up for re-election.

However, he said, if slots should open up in their areas, they would be the first to be considered.

A total of five teaching slots are being eliminated because of declining enrollments and the closing of the Doherty School, but some of the losses have been accounted for by attrition.

Re-appointed under federally-funded special needs programs for next year, were Elene Spiro and Howard Sherman, school adjustment counselors; James Duchak and Gerald Schimmel, special needs resource teachers at West Jr. High; Eileen Giggio, special needs teacher at Shawsheen; Mary Aram, perceptually handicapped teacher at West Elementary and Kate Allard, special needs aide at East Jr. High, as well as Lois Peters, child search and identification specialist, Title VI.

These positions are dependent on continued receipt of federal monies.

Elected to tenure were Donne Giuffre, adaptive phys ed; Linnea Gershenberg, early childhood program head and Karen Haft, school psychologist.

At the high school — Joan Axelrod, phys ed; Ilse Fersing, German; Linda George, social studies, Carol Parker, English and Faith Hughes, science. At East Jr. High — Margaret Dugal, math; John Givens, Gary Hendrickson and Judith Rickley, English; and Ann Kirk, special needs. At West Jr. High — David Gangi, English/social studies and Marie Hamblen, typing.

And in the elementaries, Debra Phillips, special needs at Bancroft; M. Zimmerman, librarian at South; and Audrey Palmiere, Carol Buchanan, Irene Crane and Kathryn Crawford, to be assigned.

First re-elections were approved for Diana Kolben, fine arts program advisor; Rosamond Bastable, occupational education program advisor; Debra DeCosta, speech therapist; Brenda O'Brien, health education resource teacher and Michael Osit, psychologist

Also, at the high school: Maureen Hanawalt, English; Lynne McCoart, health education; Craig Simpson, social studies; Lois Treacy, business education and Janet Roderio, guidance. At East Jr. High, Marcie Harol, math and Carol Todras, foreign language, and at West Jr. High, Patricia Flaherty, English/social studies, Lori Humlak, foreign language, and John Warden, social studies.

Second re-elections, were approved for Richard Irving, school adjustment counselor and Debra Scheinfeld, speech and hearing, system-wide.

At the high school: Evelyn Cullinane, phys ed; Jeffrey Kelly, English; Karen Kocon-Gowan, art; Deborah Madden, business education; Susan Morgan, math; Eugene Verschoor, industrial arts; George Spanos, distributive ed and Hilary Waldinger, reading. At East Jr. High: Susan Brown, health; Patricia Hildebrandt, reading and Gary Shapiro, math, and at West Jr. High, JoAnn Lakow and Carol Ruscio, math.

At Sanborn, James Batchelder, art and at Bancroft, Anne Marie Wilde, special needs.

In other personnel action, the committee accepted the retirement of Ruth Stevenson, teacher aide at West Elementary, appointed Susan C. Saily an instructional aide at Shawsheen and increased the hours of Jeanne Carew, instructional aide at Shawsheen.

Information Meeting On Building Plans

A pre-town meeting informational meeting on secondary school building plans, will be held tonight, at 7:30 p.m. in the East Jr. High School Auditorium.

All questions from the audience will be answered.

Building Program Costs $4.25

The proposed $11.5 million school building program (Warrant Article 65) will have a tax impact of approximately $4.25 in the first year, but declining in subsequent years, the town manager told the selectmen Monday night.

"This is not to say that the tax rate will go up by that amount," Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said, explaining that other potential factors — such as a decline in the town debt or a broadening of the tax base — would also affect the tax rate.

Selectman Susan Poore found the $4.25 figure alarming: "Given these figures, I am even less able to deal with what we are asking the people to deal with this year," she said.

"I begin to question an $11.5 million school project," Poore added. "We can't do everything. There isn't enough money anywhere to do what we have to do."

However, Chairman James Abramson pointed out that the decision now belongs to town meeting. "We have already taken our position (in favor of) the article and are not going to reconsider it now," Abramson said.

Wang Gets Welcome

The selectmen are happy that Wang Laboratories "continues to want to be in Andover despite the problems" the computer company has had in choosing land to develop, Chairman James Abramson said Monday night.

Wang representatives met with the Development and Industrial commission Monday night to withdraw the company's option on 106 acres of industrial land off River Road.

In its place, the company submitted a $10 million bonding application to the Industrial Development Finance Authority for a 130-acre site in the southeast quadrant of Andover Tech Park.

selectmen after the Development and Industrial Commission meeting. "We want to stay in the Merrimack Valley, and we've been treated well in this town."

Ed Grayson, vice-president and general counsel for Wang, told the selectmen the River Road land "turned out not to be feasible to develop. There were problems with the title and with access, so we began to look for alternatives."

The new manufacturing facility to be built in Tech Park should be completed in two to four years, Grayson said, adding that there is "a good chance it will be at the lower end of that time scale."

Wang's new facility will be "good for the town," Abramson said, "and we hope to have you as a neighbor soon."

"We need this space to build," John Lefebvre, attorney for Wang, told the

A Solution To Many Problems

Next Monday night, Andover voters will begin the task of carving out the financial destiny for the town for the coming fiscal year, as town meeting convenes at Case Cage, Phillips Academy.

It is, or course, referred to as the truest form of democracy — the business of town meeting extending back to colonial times, when everyone got together to vote, act on business and wind up affairs with a bean supper.

Times have changed, and while the importance of construction of a footbridge over Rogers Brook back in the old days may seem insignificant in comparison to today's issues, the legacy of the principle of town meeting remains — namely allowing residents to determine what they desire and how much they wish to pay.

It is not our intent to diminish the importance of the various issues facing the voters this coming week, but one item in particular stands out — that of the school building program.

There is little doubt of the need to upgrade the town's secondary school facilities to meet modern educational needs.

Too, the importance of providing an auditorium, not only for the high school activities, but one usable by the town as well, is well demonstrated.

Renovations and additions to both West Junior High and the high school will make the building useful and compatible for educational needs, as well as anticipated enrollments through the next several years.

While staring at $11 million to meet these needs is not the most pleasant thought for the harried taxpayer in difficult economic times, it seems imperative that the funds be provided.

In many ways, approval of the $11 million bond issue is like paying a fine for delay of action.

Problems have been plentiful at East Junior High and funds have been provided during the past decade to make some repairs and update essentials in the building. It has been cosmetic surgery at best, or attempts to meet safety codes.

Had the town faced the issue squarely some years ago and understood the need to provide a modern educational facility, then possibly the costs being faced next week would not have been so large.

Reuse of the building is also on the meeting agenda, with the townspeople asked to advise the administration if they wish to have the building continued as a municipal structure.

Memorial Auditorium will be retained as part of the new junior high, which will result from a combination of the Doherty Elementary School, additions and renovations.

A new auditorium at the high school site off Shawsheen Road is also a part of the bonding question.

This too has a price tag which has multiplied considerably since such a structure was first considered over a decade ago. When the new high school was built voters approved an amendment at town meeting which eliminated an auditorium the town could have had then for about $1 million.

The need is apparent. Andover High is about the only secondary educational facility in the area without sufficient space to gather the student population or provide educational opportunity for those interested in theater arts or music.

The town itself is in need of such a facility.

As the matter approaches town meeting floor, we are pleased to offer our support of the total building program, primarily based on its needs, but also in consideration of the work done by the school building committee in bringing the project to this point.

We must admit that in the early days of this more-than-two-year study by the committee, actions were exasperating at times, and the project seemed to be taking all sorts of varying directions.

But time has proven beneficial.

All facets of the project have been examined by the committee with the architects, planners, educators, and others.

What will be placed before the voters next week, will be a project to meet the needs of Andover's future by the most economical approach.

We strongly recommend its acceptance.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — April 1905

Two new fire alarm boxes which the town voted to purchase at the last town meeting have arrived and have been placed in position. One is situated on Porter road near the home of the late Henry A. Hayward and the other at the corner of Sumer and Pine streets.

The school committee held a special meeting last evening to consider the question of grading about the central buildings.

A fine, hard-wood floor has been laid in the lower Town hall.

On Wednesday, Patriot's Day, the post office will keep holiday hours. The carriers will make the usual morning trip and the stamp window will be open from eight to half past nine in the morning and half past five until six in the evening.

Thomas Maloney has left the employ of the Tyer Rubber company and has joined the Lowell branch of ball tossers, with which aggregation he will endeavor to land a position. He has been associated with many of the local amateur teams and has always shown up well so that his friends feel he will make good in the New England league.

50 Years Ago — April 1930

U. S. Commissioner R. B. Walsh recently issued warrants for the arrest of the owners of a West Andover farm which was razed by a fire two weeks ago during which firemen said they discovered a large still in operation in the barn.

Kate Friskine, a pianist, gave a superlatively fine recital at Abbot academy last Tuesday night before an appreciative audience. There were no "high spots" in her performance — the whole recital was magnificent.

The Pomp's Pond Community Beach committee ensures a successful season at the pond which provides opportunities for bathing during the heated period under suitable supervision. The development of the beach means much to many Andover people who are obliged to spend the summer in town.

A most encouraging sign of a recognition of the importance of placing emphasis on the mental training in the public schools is the award of $1 prizes to scholars of the seventh and eighth grades who succeed in raising their general average in major subjects the greatest number of points in the eight-week periods of the school year. This move ought to attract the interest of many pupils.

A 9000 pound cow, a flock of 50 hens, and a profit of $117.79 from a half-acre truck garden was the record of two Andover 4-H club boys, Harvey Turner, 14, and Robert Grant, 16, chosen as Essex County delegates to Camp Gilbert, Amherst July 25 — Aug. 1.

25 Years Ago — April 1955

Bond issues authorized by the annual and special town meetings may not cost the Andover taxpayers a single penny in 1955.

In a novel approach to the problem of borrowing some $1,995,000 approved by the town's voters, Treasurer Thaxter Eaton has suggested borrowing $325,000 this summer on a short-term loan.

Still a third bird is loose this week, as

Andover's Greatest Bargain

In an effort to stem the rise of prices and the spiral of inflation, Memorial Hall Library will be offering high interest loans to its patrons during National Library Week, April 13 to 19, and throughout the year. With inflation running rampant, Nancy Jacobson, director of Memorial Hall Library, urges patrons to ignore the economists and borrow, borrow, borrow . . . from the library and take advantage of its outstanding values. From books to records, the library has the latest best sellers and the oldest classics. Why spend $8.95 on a new book, or $6.95 on an album when their quality is uncertain? Check out the materials at the Library and find out for free.

Come to the Library to watch Hollywood's finest, without commercial interruption. This week the library will be showing "Bringing Up Baby" on April 11 and "Little Women" on April 18 and 19.

Events, such as the Pringle lecture and tea on Sunday, April 13 and the Children's Book Program on Tuesday, April 15, provide culture and education for our patrons. And don't forget, the library's information and referral staff is trained to find the answers to questions fast, saving patrons time and frustration — and the answer is just a phone call away!

National Library Week is the perfect time to come to the Library and discover for yourself why Andover's greatest bargain is Memorial Hall Library.

Growing With Books

Bridget Bennet, Memorial Hall Library's Children's Librarian, will present a program "Growing With Books" on Tuesday, April 15 at 10 a.m. Although open to everyone, this program is planned to appeal especially to young mothers and to coincide with the Littlest Listeners storyhour. Coffee will be served in the Children's room prior to the program.

Children's Room News

By Bridget Bennett

The final program in the Films-on-Friday series this spring will be "The Red Balloon". This much-loved classic in which a small boy's balloon becomes alive will be shown Friday, April 11 at 10:30 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. and, as always, pre-schoolers accompanied by an adult will be welcome to join us at those times. 39

Films-on-Friday will be resumed next October.

Plans for an exciting week of puppets and puppetry during April vacation are afoot and we urge you to drop by the Children's Room and pick up a flier describing our forthcoming programs.

The collection of Easter bunnies on display in the Children's Room this month has been lent by Steven and Christopher Sintos of Andover.

Murphy vs. Puccio:
ABSCAM AdversariesBy JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- Several months ago, the FBI's candid cameras caught seven House members and one senator allegedly taking bribes from undercover agents dressed as Arab sheiks. Now the investigation -- code-named ABSCAM -- is developing into a personal battle between two men.

One is Thomas Puccio, chief of the Justice Department's strike force in Brooklyn, who masterminded ABSCAM. He is a tough, intense, prematurely balding man who is regarded in law-enforcement circles as one of the best federal prosecutors in the country.

His adversary is Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., a clean-cut, handsome, dapper man. But he, too, is tough -- a former Korean war hero who has fought his way to the top on Capitol Hill.

Murphy has been accused of instructing an associate to take $50,000 from an undercover FBI agent. But the congressman has angrily denied any wrongdoing and has demanded to see the secret FBI videotapes, which he claims will vindicate him.

And he hasn't stopped there. He has gone on the offensive. Sources told our associate Gary Cohn that Murphy has hired a private detective to investigate the strike force chief. The private investigator has reported back to Murphy that Puc-cio is close to several newsmen, some of whom have written critical stories about the congressman.

Murphy's attorney, Michael Tigar, has followed up with a sharp letter to Philip Heymann, head of the Justice Department's criminal division. The letter charges that Puccio has both personal and political motives to discredit Murphy.

The letter implies that Puccio was responsible for the ABSCAM news leaks, which portrayed Murphy as a criminal. The attorney demanded, therefore, that Puccio be removed from the investigation.

We happen to know something about those news leaks. Puccio had nothing to do with them. In fact, the premature disclosure of ABSCAM upset his whole investigative strategy.

But the prosecutor is learning that it can be rough to tangle with a powerful congressman like John Murphy.

MILITARY WASTE: President Carter, in slashing government expenditures, has treated the Defense Department most sparingly. His budget cutters will challenge every detail of a $50,000 anti-poverty project, but they'll approve a $50 million Pentagon proposal with few questions asked.

Most Americans want the armed forces to have the weapons they need to defend the nation. But if the federal budget is to be balanced, some military fat must be cut. Here are some examples:

* Staggering amounts have been lavished on armaments that should never have been built. The Pentagon has rushed ahead with pet weapons projects before they have been proved.

* Contractors also like to load down weapons with frills and gadgets. This increases the profits, but all too often the electronic gadgetry is so complex that it constantly malfunctions. The armed forces have trouble keeping some of their fancy planes and tanks operating even under peacetime conditions.

* The bickering between the services also costs the taxpayers billions. Experts have figured more efficient ways, for example, of deploying the controversial MX missiles. But this would shift them from the Air Force to the Navy, so the Air Force brass are fighting the move.

* The White House decided to purchase some German-made Roland missiles to improve relations with West Germany. Yet internal Pentagon studies show that $1 billion could be saved by upgrading existing missile systems.

* Another $100 million could be saved merely by utilizing empty military transport aircraft, rather than chartering private planes.

HAWKS-FOR-REAGAN: Republican presidential hopeful Ronald Reagan has added a retired general to his inner circle of advisers since firing campaign manager John Sears. The former officer is known for his advocacy of increased defense spending and a hard line toward the Soviets. He is retired Army Lieut. Gen. Daniel Graham, an expert on Soviet foreign policy, who has called for the use of military force to free the hostages in Iran.

CENSUS SHREDDERS: Millions of Americans mailed their census forms back to the Census Bureau last week. But placing the forms in the mailbox might have spelled the end for some of the questionnaires. It seems the automated machines used at post offices tend to shred the outsized envelopes, so postmasters were warned to sort the forms by hand.

FUDDLE FACTORY: There's little doubt that one reason for the high cost of food is the money and time that producers must spend to cope with federal red tape. These costs, of course, are passed on to consumers. Government analysts recently discovered that Uncle Sam has more than 1,300 separate regulations on the books governing the transportation of food. And all the regulations compel the transporters to comply with no fewer than 30,000 requirements.

Babe Ruth Tryouts April 19-20

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team will conduct Spring tryouts for its 1980 team on Saturday, April 19, and Sunday, April 20, from 1 to 4:30 p.m. at the East Junior High Playstead Field.

The team is for youngsters ages 13 to 15, provided they will not reach their 16th birthday before Aug. 1, 1980.

All 13-year-old candidates should report to the Playstead Field at 1 p.m. both days, while all 14-and-15-year-old candidates should report to the Playstead Field at 3 p.m. both days.

If a third tryout is necessary, the time and site will be announced at the April 20 session.

In case of rain, the tryouts will be moved to the following weekend at the same time and site.

The Andover team consists of 15 players, and it competes in the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League against clubs from North Andover and Lawrence.

The season runs from early June to mid-August, and the Andover team generally plays between 30 and 40 games including exhibitions, regular season, playoffs and non-league contests.

Andover is riding a string of seven consecutive seasons in which it has won 20 or more games, and the locals have finished no worse than third in the league standings each of the past seven years.

The overall record during that span is 154-57-6.

All 15 positions on the 1980 team are open. Although 10 players are eligible to return from last year's squad, they must earn their way back on the team this season.

A large majority of the baseball players who have started for the Andover High varsity over the years have been Babe Ruth graduates.

Candidates attending the tryouts are urged to wear cleats.

Further information may be obtained by calling Rick Harrison at 475-2007.

Andover Senior League tryouts will follow Babe Ruth tryouts, and any players who do not make the Ruth team may still play Senior League ball.

All 13-year-old candidates are also reminded that they can play in both the Senior League 13-year-old division (which ends in late May) and the Babe Ruth League.

Squirt 'A' Team Wilmington League

Andover 3, Wakefield 5

The Squirt A's finished the season with a strong game against a very good Wakefield team.

Wakefield's margin of victory came on two quick goals early in the first period, when Andover, playing after a week's layoff, took several minutes to settle down and get organized. After that it was an even game, with all players contributing to a fine effort. With Wakefield ahead by two, Kyle McCabe took a fine lead pass set up by Brent Raftery and Pat Breen, stickhandled around two defensemen, and beat the goalie to get Andover on track. Wakefield then pulled away with two more goals, but these were quickly matched by Andover. First Raftery drove in a rebound of a shot by McCabe, and then Mark Neaves working with linemates Steve Donovan and Robert Stoltz, put in a shot after an excellent display of pressure. At the end of the first period, Jamie O'Brien and Mike Nelligan combined with defensemen Mark Berberian and Peter Trede to kill off a strong Wakefield power play. All through the game Matt Young, Dana Forbes and Tom Tormey provided outstanding defense against a powerful offense, and Jim Berberian in goal showed the excellent work that has become routine for him this season.

Coaches Fran Ferrara and Steve Cooper can take pride and satisfaction from the many hours spent in developing this fine group of hockey players.

Squirt 'A' Team

Squirt A's 9, Kinfolk 9

In place of a regularly scheduled game, the Squirt A's continued a traditional once-a-year rivalry with the Kinfolk, a ragged, out of shape, but high spirited crew of wide ranging skill and talent, made up mostly of fathers. These old timers, knowing the talent of the opposition, which had developed to such a high level only because of their elders' gentle support and exhortation from the stands throughout the season, and having understandable misgivings about letting their kids have a legal shot at them with sticks in their hands, brought in a couple of "ringers." These were in the persons of Kathy Nelligan (Mike's sister, who plays for the Nashua Girls team) and Kathy Donovan (Steve's sister, who plays with the AHA Intramural league). They not only bolstered the team, but gave the Squirts a shock in finding two girls who could skate with them.

With no licensed referees available, John Young, Frank Nelligan and Coach Fran Ferrara took turns at playing and reffing, and proved that they could call a game every bit as badly as some of the officials seen during the season. Kyle McCabe's brother, Shannon, did a professional job of running the clock and being the official scorer. Ernie Neaves, noting that coaches Fran Ferrara and Steve Cooper had abandoned the Squirts in order to shore up the parents' team, traitorously coached the Squirts. He did a fine job, and pioneered a new offensive strategy of putting out a new line for about 60 seconds before calling in the line already on the ice. With all non-playing parents cheering for the Kinfolk, Beverly McCabe decided to join Ernie and provided the Squirts with a vocal one-person cheering section.

The game ended in a tie, as has every Squirt family game in memory. For the parents, Jim O'Brien and Mike Sapuppo provided outstanding goal, and while there have been no professional offers, there is talk of recruiting them for the Pee-Wee/Parent game next year. The parents dazzled their sons in the opening minutes, and Bob McCabe opened the scoring. This was followed by the two more quick parent goals before Mark Neaves got the Squirts on the board with a good shot. Dad Nelligan got the assist on Mark's goal from the referee position. He called an off side, but when both teams ignored the call, he decided he might as well too. Joe Stoltz played an excellent game, mostly from a prone or sitting position, and on one of the occasions he was caught standing, he drove in a quick goal from a Gerry Berberian centering pass. By the end of the game, Steve Cooper had sore kneecaps from getting hit with elbows. Fred Hansberry, Bill Breen, Dave Riddiford and Charlie Donovan helped give the boys a lesson on how, and often how not to play the game. The actual goal scorers were a little uncertain due to the confusion that was occurring on the ice. But the Squirts, with the entire team on the ice, dug a puck loose from under the goalie, and drove in the tying goal at the buzzer, with an assist to everybody, and the goal to nobody.

After the game Mark Neaves, representing all the Squirts, presented Coach Ferarra, a B.C. graduate, with a framed motto, "It's hard to soar with Eagles when you work with Turkeys."

Local Teams Are State Champions

Andover AWANA clubs played to a near-clean sweep of the Massachusetts State AWANA Olympic Relays held at the Andover High School Saturday, April 5. Teams of youngsters competed in a variety of events styled after indoor track and field competition, but scaled for boys and girls in the eight to 13-year-old range.

The AWANA scouting program is a nationwide organization serving boys and girls with a special program meeting the needs of growing youngsters in the physical, mental, social and spiritual areas of life. Special emphasis is placed on study of the Bible to give club members a solid spiritual basis for growing to meet life challenges on a sound foundation. The local clubs meet weekly at the Andover Bible Chapel, 266 Lowell St.

W. D. Dewhurst of North Andover, local AWANA scouting director said. "This years AWANA olympic competition was especially rewarding since we had participation of teams from Middleboro, South Yarmouth, Lexington, Brockton and Andover. We were delighted at the fine showing by the Andover teams." Andover won two first place trophies and one second place award.

Danvers Division, and in the initial playoff round beat first place finisher Revere, a team they had already beaten once and tied once during the season. Revere dominated for about half of the game and almost all the action seemed to be in Andover's zone. They scored within the first three minutes, and again near mid-period. In between Glenn Farnham scored for Andover, alertly picking up a loose puck just inside the blue line, rushing to the net, and driving in a screen shot. Andover's defensive pairings of Dan Hagerty, Steve MacSweeney, Andy Jowett, Peter Donegan and Tom Tormey were hard pressed but generally held off Revere's relentless attack. And with outstanding netminding by Chris Hansberry, who has developed into a first class goalie this year, they kept the game from turning into a blowout until the forward lines could settle down and generate some offense.

In the second and third periods, Andover began to move the puck more crisply and got a series of breakaways. Brent Raftery tied the game up on a short steal and lone rush on the goalie, and later scored again on an identical play. In between, Brent was denied twice on one-on-one breaks by a very shart Revere goaltender. Steve MacSweeney provided the go ahead goal, moving in from his defense position to push a pass from Raftery under a maze of sticks and skates in close and through the pads of a screened goalie.

In the final few minutes, Andover took charge of the game, and kept the puck in the Revere zone, never giving the opposition a chance to make a comeback attempt. Doug Bleszinski, centering forwards, Mike Nelligan and Robert Stoltz, continually forced the play. And Gregg Kinsky, John Gilmartin and "Duke" McNamara kept frustrating Revere attempts to clear the puck to relieve Andover's pressure. With only ten seconds left, and Revere's goalie pulled in favor of a sixth skater, Mark Duncan was rewarded for a hard night's work when he carried a loose puck to the side of a jam in front of the net, and drove in one last goal, just catching the corner.

Pee Wee 'B'

Andover 2, Cambridge 2

Andover's Pee Wee B's ended their season last Saturday with a 2-2 tie against a very chippy Cambridge team in a Wilmington Youth Ice Arena League game. The tie extended the B's season ending unbeaten streak to 10 games, seven wins, and three ties. Andover's final record was 21-25-8, including a 13-5-4 record in Danvers which qualified the team for the playoffs there.

The game against Cambridge saw 20 penalties called, 12 of them against Cambridge. The game was scoreless in the first period, as goalie Kenny Young turned away several shots. Andover's Billy Bruno-Tommy Herling-Larry Prestia line had several chances early in the game but the Cambridge goalie was equal to the task. Andover then scored twice in the second period for a 2-0 lead. First, Sandy MacNeish converted a nice pass from Ronnie Forbes and five minutes later David Young scored on a very fine pass by Timmy Donovan. Timmy and David's linemate, Chris Madden, also figured in the goal, and played a strong overall game. Cambridge's rushes in the period were well handled by Andover's defensemen, particularly John Gangi, Shannon McCabe, and Mark Paskowsky.

The third period began with Andover leading 2-0. Andover's Paul Fuchs and Jeff McNeil had chances to extend the lead but Cambridge's goalie came up with some outstanding saves. Then, four minutes into the period, Cambridge scored twice in a 20-second span to tie the game up at two. Andover had chances to score later in the game on two good rushes by defenseman Matt Shine and another by defenseman Brian Gibson, but Cambridge held on for the tie. Their efforts to win were well handled by goalie David Barry.

The B's will play in the semifinals in Danvers on Wednesday, April 9.

All-Stars Drop Quarterfinal Rounds

The Andover all-Stars 7th grade basketball team dropped quarterfinal round games in both the New Bedford Recreation and Wakefield Invitational Youth Tournaments last weekend.

The locals suffered through an incredible game-long cold spell in New Bedford, managing only five fieldgoals enroute to a 29-15 loss to the South Side Sixers of South Providence, R. I.

Two days later in Wakefield, the Andover crew ran up against the only other team to beat it, and for the second time the Newton All-Stars proved superior, 62-40.

Andover trailed Newton by only three points late in the third quarter, but the winners spurred to a 12-point lead early in the final period and were never in danger thereafter.

Sixers, 29-15

The South Side Sixers actually proved to be no mystery, as time-and-again Andover penetrated inside for good percentage shots.

However, the Mt. Wachusett Tournament champions and Greater-Boston Pre-Teen finalists just couldn't put the ball in the hole.

In addition to missing at least 20 shots from within a 10-foot range, Andover managed to convert only 5-of-16 free throws.

Yet, despite all these problems, the locals trailed by only two points midway through the third period.

The Sixers eventually pulled away, however, as Curtis Moore pumped home three key hoops late in the third quarter.

Andover, which collected only one fieldgoal the entire second half, had numerous chances in the final period but couldn't get its offense untracked.

Tom Lutz pocketed 5 points, Billy Lane 3, Chris Comparato 2, Mark Doherty 2, Dan Sheehan 2 and Glenn Livermore a free throw.

Curtis Moore and Leroy Payne shared game-high honors for the Sixers with 8 points each.

Andover had been averaging 50.5 points per contest over 10 previous games.

Newton, 62-40

Andover regained its shooting touch against tough Newton, but the winners' Steve Altman was once again too much as the talented point-guard poured through 29 points and dished out numerous assists.

Greg Weltz, one of Newton's two big men, chipped in 16 points.

Andover, which dropped a foul-filled 44-42 decision to Newton in the Greater-Boston Pre-Teen championship game, bolted to a quick 6-2 lead in the opening 1:41 on baskets by Billy Lane, Tom Lutz

Chris Comparato

Greg Hopwood

Tim Reilly

and Dan Sheehan.

Newton, which experienced early trouble with the Andover press, gained its composure quickly and went on a 13-2 tear to grab a 15-8 lead after one quarter.

Altman, who was uncontrollable, pocketed eight points in the opening quarter and added seven in the second stanza as Newton built the advantage to 31-20 by halftime.

Andover threw up a tenacious man-to-man press in the third period, closing the gap to three points on two occasions (33-30 and 37-34) before a bucket by Weltz and two Altman free throws made it 41-34 at the buzzer.

Tim Reilly, popping from outside, and Tom Lutz led the third quarter comeback with six points apiece.

Andover went ice-cold again in the final period, however, as Newton escaped on a 21-6 tear to win the game going away.

Altman added eight more points, Dan Kowal six and Weltz four to key the victors' last quarter attack.

Tom Lutz paced the balanced Andover offense with 10 points and a similar number of rebounds, while Billy Lane and Tim Reilly both shot well and finished with 8 points apiece.

Mark Doherty chipped in 6 points, Dan Sheehan 2, Rich Dunn 2, Chris Comparato 2 and Greg Hopwood swished a pair of free throws.

Austin Henderson, Lisa Marcella and Glenn Livermore contributed hustling performances for Andover.

The box score:

Newton 62, Andover 40

NEWTON (62) — Steve Altman 12-5-29, Greg Weltz 8-0-16, Greg Lee 2-2-6, Mike Chalfin 2-0-4, Bo Johnson 0-1-1, John Koff 0-0-0, Dan Kowal 2-2-6, Scott Gunn 0-0-0. Totals: 26-10-62.

By Tricia Gannon

After completing their regular season with an undefeated record of 14-0, The West Junior High Boys Basketball Team went on to win second place in the Bedford Tournament. Todd Lockwood (68 percent), Tom Kannam (62 percent), and Sean McGranaghan (62 percent), held the top field goal percentages over the season. The highest floor percentages were those of E. J. Perry (72 percent), and Matt Wells (70 percent). Sean McGranaghan (nine), and Todd Lockwood (seven), had the most rebounds per game, while E. J. Perry (265), and Sean McGranaghan (213), scored the most points throughout the season.

Other contributors to the winning team include Jeff Canovitch, Ricky Desmarais, Dick Kelley, Chris McGinley, Mike Pantaleo, Rob Slayton and Jim Terrion.

Coach George Sullivan commented on the team's great season.

"I believe the key to our success was their enthusiasm and their continued desire to improve their skills. The boys all gave 100 percent effort; their team pride and spirit never faulted." The players, in commenting on their season, gave credit to their coach for the time and effort he put in to make their team a winner.

Fitness Night At Museum

The in-shape and the out-of-shape will enjoy dancing, bike pedaling, and operating a Nordic ski machine on Physical Fitness Night Friday, April 18 at Boston's Museum of Science.

The special program from 6 to 10 p.m. will offer informal demonstrations and participatory activities in cooperation with The Cardio-Vascular Institute of Boston University.

Instructors and students of the Aerobic Dancing by Jacki Sorensen group will perform and lead Museum visitors in tryout dance routines. These are non-competitive and can be done either walking, jogging or running. Dance experience is not required. Aerobic dancing is intended to strengthen the heart muscle by increasing the body's demand for oxygen.

The word aerobic ("with oxygen") will also appear in exercises designed by Bob Healey. Known as The Aerobic Cop, Healey will demonstrate and lead visitors in movements he first planned to help his fellow policemen keep in shape.

In addition to an exercise bike and Nordic ski machine, equipment demonstrated will include a treadmill, skipping rope and a bicycle ergometer which measures the effort expended to cover a certain distance at a certain speed.

A film, "Coping with Life on the Run," will be shown at 7 and 8 p.m. It features Dr. George Sheehan, cardiologist and marathon runner, who describes how running became a source of new energy for him.

Museum visitors will view a display of running and other athletic shoes produced by the manufacturers of Nike, Saucony, Etonic, and New Balance Athletic Shoes.

Representatives of The Cardio-Vascular Institute, led by Patrick O'Reilly, associate for the Health Program, and Dr. Charles P. Tift, assistant professor of medicine, BU Medical Center, will be present to talk to visitors.

In 1978, Las Vegas, Nev., was host to 421 conventions, 69 more than the previous year.

Stars Advance To Semi-Finals

49

THE TOWNSMAN, APRIL 10, 1980

The Andover Stars (8th grade) Tournament Basketball team coached by Frank Monette, extended their record to 9 wins one loss this week as they topped Roxbury in the quarter-finals of the Wakefield Invitational Basketball Tournament 85-44 to advance to the semi-finals.

They will play Beverly Friday and if they get past the tough Beverly team will have a chance to meet the winner of the Wakefield - Malden contest in the finals Saturday night.

If they meet Wakefield in the finals they will have a chance to avenge their only loss of the season, a 46-44 defeat in overtime in the finals of the Daily Times Invitational Basketball Tournament which was held in Woburn.

Andover is the defending champion in this Wakefield Tournament, as they topped Wakefield in the semi-finals and North Andover in the finals of the 1979 Tournament last season also under Monette.

In the quarter-final game with Roxbury, Andover jumped out to a 22-6 first quarter lead and never looked back, as all 10 Andover players hit the scoring column. Andover put in their second team in the second quarter and still outscored Roxbury by a 24-11 count for a commanding 46-17 halftime lead.

In the second half Andover outscored Roxbury 39-27 for their final 85-44 tally. Mark Nardone led both teams with 26 points, while only playing two quarters. John Lahood and Ralph Dellato each tossed in 10 points; Mark Tremblay, nine; Pedro Gleason and Bill Weidman, each eight; Mike Wheeler, seven; Chris Marcella, four; and guards Jim Stelzer and Fran McGranaghan, who concentrated on their passing games with some pretty assists to the forwards in close to the basket, two each. Andover also this week scrimmages St. Augustine's 8th graders from Lawrence, who came in first in the Lawrence Jewish Community League and Lawrence Boys Club League this season, and outscored the talented Lawrence team by the score of 65-55. The Andover victory was especially impressive because they were playing without two of their starters, top-scorer Nardone, who had stitches in his hand and couldn't make the game, and guard Lahood, who is the second scorer on the team.

Andover fell behind after one quarter 15-10 and trailed 27-25 at the half and 37-35 after three quarters, but it was all Andover in the final quarter, outscoring St. Augustine's 31-18 for the victory. Andover's McGranaghan led all scorers with 17 points, some of them on the spectacular side as he scored 11 points in the final quarter. Wheeler tossed in 12 points with a stroking rebounding game; Gleason, 11; Stelzer nine; Tremblay seven; Weidman six; and Marcella and Delatto, two each.

For Lawrence, Garcia scored 16 points; Vera 13, Lopez 10, Bryant nine and Lynch six.

Board Won't Support Nuclear Waste Bylaw

Residents who want Andover to adopt a by-law prohibiting the transport of nuclear wastes through town (Warrant Articles 41 and 42) Monday night tried unsuccessfully to convince the selectmen to reverse their position against the proposed bylaw.

The selectmen maintained their recommendation against the private articles because the board has "no jurisdiction over Routes 495 and 93 — even Main Street is not ours, but a state highway, Route 28," said Selectman Susan Poore.

"I agree, we can't control it," added Norma Gammon.

State Senator William X. Wall (Second Essex and Middlesex District) attended the selectmen's meeting at the request "of several residents," he said, and left a draft of a state bill prohibiting the transport of hazardous materials through Andover.

"I would be happy to file this bill for you," Wall said.

Walter McKertrich, 32 Washington Ave., explained that he and other supporters of the bylaw "don't expect you to have police out on 495. Instead we hope that shippers (of nuclear wastes) would observe our ordinance and stay out of our town."

McKertrich said nuclear wastes from the Maine Yankee power plant and Portsmouth Naval Station now travel through Andover regularly, and added that a proposed nuclear waste storage site in the western United States would bring greater amounts of wastes "through Andover, right on Essex Street."

Earth Day For Kids

Massachusetts Audubon is celebrating spring and Earth Day with a one-day vacation week special for children aged 8 to 12.

They will explore the Ipswich River Sanctuary by using map and compass, discovering who lives in forest and field and in the river. The date is Tuesday, April 22 from 9:30 to 2:30. There is a fee and pre-registration is necessary.

For more information call or write Endicott Regional Center, 346 Grapevine Road, Wenham.

Citing last week's incident in Somerville, McKertrich said, "Accidents do happen — and we don't want them to happen in Andover."

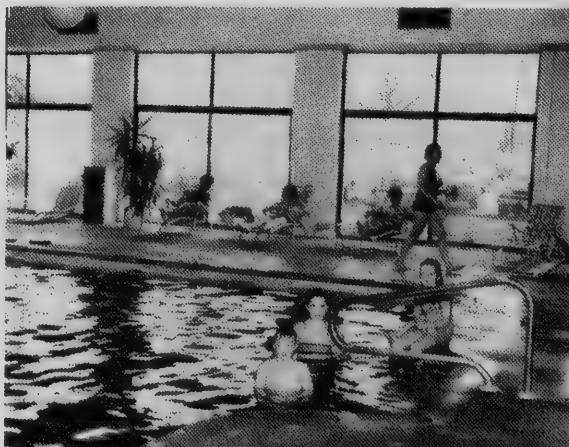

"We believe any major accident would have a devastating effect on the people of the town today, and for future generations," McKertrich told the selectmen. "We want to keep Andover clean."

Addressing one of the selectmen's objections to the bylaw, McKertrich said it could be amended to allow the transport of wastes from nuclear materials used by doctors and hospitals, which represent "a very low volume," he said.

He added that trucks carrying wastes would not have to be impounded by the police because that would "pose a danger to the town." Instead McKertrich suggested that ticketing offenders "would best serve the objection of the bylaw."

Richard England, 44 High St., said there is "ample precedent from other communities, from New York City to small Vermont towns, for the adoption of this bylaw."

Andover does not have the capability to "deal with a nuclear waste disaster on our local roads or interstate highways," Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said. The town could do little more than evacuate residents and call in state authorities, Clark said.

An Historic Marker For Shawsheen

Now that Shawsheen has been declared a national historic district by the National Historic Register, Shawsheen residents want to place a bronze marker in Shawsheen Square, Philip Salamone told the selectmen Monday night.

Although it is not yet clear how the $500 marker will be funded, the selectmen told Salamone to "move ahead" with ordering the plaque so that it will be ready in time for a June 14 public ceremony Shawsheen residents are planning.

Funding may come from area businesses and the family of Cornelius

Wood, the developer of Shawsheen Village, Salamone said.

The selectmen would make up the balance with town funds if necessary, Abramson said.

The monument will "probably be set in a large rock, and located on town land near the corner of Route 133 and North Main Street, on the Sacred Heart side," Salamone said.

Salamone also asked the selectmen to attend the public ceremony, to which all town board members as well as state politicians will be invited, he said.

A dance will be held at the Andover Country Club that evening, he added.

Residents Will Urge Gravel Removal Bylaw

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The Foster's Pond residents who inserted gravel removal articles 37 and 38 will withdraw article 38, but they are standing firm on the need for article 37, which would prohibit commercial gravel operations in residential areas without a zoning variance, they said Monday night.

"We were shocked to learn that the selectmen had withdrawn their articles," said Stephen Cotton of Foster's Pond at the selectmen's meeting. (The selectmen withdrew articles 34, 35 and 36 last week.)

Cotton said the selectmen's articles grew from a suggestion the Foster's Pond residents had to the director of Community Planning and Development "many months ago."

Under the current gravel removal bylaw, those wishing to remove more than 2000 cubic yards of earth material from a lot, not incidental to the development of a subdivision, must come before selectmen for a special permit, Cotton said.

"The one change we suggest (with article 37) is that they do not come to the selectmen for that board's discretionary permission, but to the zoning board of appeals for a zoning variance."

"Our position is straightforward and commonsensical," Cotton added. "Large-scale gravel operations, for the sole purpose of gravel removal, are inappropriate in a residential area. We are not prepared to withdraw this article," he concluded.

However, Cotton said the Foster's Pond residents will withdraw article 38 because "it resolves no problems and includes some ambiguities."

Selectman Susan Poore said the selectmen withdrew their articles because "not all the interested parties have been involved in its development."

"We are going to step back and punt again," Poore said, adding that to leave the private article in the warrant would only "cloud the issue. I'll have to vote against it at town meeting," she added, "and I don't want to do that."

Poore said she did not want the board to deal with gravel removal bylaws again "until all the selectmen understand and know the limits and effectiveness of the present bylaw, before we throw something else in."

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark agreed that "to consider (changing the bylaw) at this town meeting would be premature."

Chairman James Abramson asked that a committee consisting of representatives from Foster's Pond, the department of Community Planning and Development, the selectmen and local developers meet to "hash out something and come up with a recommendation to the selectmen" for the board's April 28 meeting.

The selectmen made no decision to change their position on article 37 Monday night. However, the Foster's Pond residents remain "hopeful — it may be a vain hope — that the selectmen, after thinking about it, might yet support our article," Cotton told the planning board Tuesday night.

Cotton and Steven Ellis, of the Foster's Pond Improvement Association, appeared before the planning board seeking its approval of the article, but the board did not come to a decision Tuesday night.

"You can't operate a junkyard and a whole bunch of other things in a residential section that are much less noxious than a gravel pit," Cotton told board members. "Gravel operations should require a variance from the Board of Appeals — large-scale industrial activity should not be allowed as a matter of course in a residential section."

While chairman Patricia Curtin told Cotton the board is "generally in sympathy with you," like the selectmen, the planning board would prefer to "take a look at the whole ball of wax," she said. Curtin said supporting the article might possibly limit the board's future options in redrafting a new bylaw.

Despite plans to draft a new bylaw, "it makes sense to change (this aspect of the bylaw) now," Cotton maintained. "There is a common agreement on this relatively simple area — there should be no commercial gravel operations in residential areas."

Gravel

"This can be resolved now, until a more comprehensive change is made, if necessary. But (a change) is uncertain and in the indefinite future," Cotton argued. "It doesn't make sense not to support this simple change now."

Director of Community Planning and Development Rhys Kear said he was "personally willing to support" the article, and recommended that the planning board support it at town meeting.

"Commercial gravel operations are counter to the intent of zoning in the town, other than in the industrial zones," said Kear.

night that their budget would mean an increase of 55 cents in the tax rate, while the town's increase would be $1.

Other articles of special, and sometimes emotional, interest, include sale of the Cardinal Cushing Gymnasium (Article 6), $150,000 for the rebuilding of the lodge at Rec Park (Article 43) and a private article seeking $100,000 for repairs and improvements to the Ballardvale Community Center, though a recently released study shows that the figure would be closer to $250,000 or $300,000.

Among other private articles are one seeking sale of the town-owned woods behind Old Andover Village for additional parking (Article 53) and one seeking reimbursement of legal fees paid by two former school committeemen in a suit brought against them by a former school official (Article 7), though there are now indication that the article will be withdrawn.

A Wetlands Bylaw (Article 47) has been supported by the FinCom, Selectmen and Conservation Commission, but has drawn fire from builders and some residents.

Other money articles include one seeking $8,000 for repairs to the Central Park Bandstand (Article 9), one seeking $50,000 for improvements to the Fishbrook Pumping Station (Article 22) and another seeking $150,000 for studies to replace the Riverina Road Pumping Station (Article 54). Article 28 seeks $387,500 to repair roofs at West Elementary, Shawsheen and Bancroft Schools; Article 27 is an advisory question regarding a central maintenance office and Article 25 seeks $50,000 for energy conservation repairs and improvements to the various town buildings and schools.

The other major money item, of course, is the three-pronged school building project, which would provide renovation and additions to transform Doherty into a junior high (keeping East Jr. High's Memorial Auditorium), addition of an auditorium at the high school and renovations at West Jr. High.

A special question-and-answer section regarding the building program has also been included in the FinCom report, in the interests of time.

Finally, Article 67 is an advisory question on the reuse of East Jr. High should the other parts of the building program go through.

Use the brake rather than the accelerator to keep your car in place when stopped on a hill. This saves fuel and protects your transmission from needless wear and tear.

Spring Tips

Front end alignment is usually one of the first considerations for spring car maintenance, says the ALA Auto and Travel Club. To determine if your car needs to be realigned, have the ball joints, idler arm, pitman arm, tie rod ends, and tie rod and sleeves all checked for winter wear and damage.

appealing Conservation Commission rulings before a superior court judge.

During DEQE hearings, disputes between builders and property owners are heard by engineers who can settle questions "based on sound engineering reasons," Marden said. "There is no reason to submit an appeal to a superior court judge, when there is already an administrative forum where they can be resolved. I don't want to see judges substituting their opinions for those of engineers."

"The courts will be cluttered with these appeals," Marden predicted. "The sole reason (the Conservation Commission can use) to justify this by-law is that it will slow (building) down."

Pustell replied that a similar bylaw has been adopted by other towns, including

Dennis, and the Conservation Commission has heard "nothing but glowing reports of how well it is working."

"The bylaw would give the town an unfair advantage over builders because 'no developer could afford' to wait for a court appeal, Marden said further. "There would no longer be any pressure to work it out at the local level," he said, "and the whole ballgame changes."

"That is a good and very fair statement," Pustell answered.

Builders also object to the Conservation

Commission determining aesthetic standards, Marden added. "This has nothing to do with flood control," he said. "It's way off base."

Commission member Jim McKay summed up the board's reasons for developing the bylaw, saying, "Under rules and regulations to control building, someday we will reach a saturation point. And as we approach saturation, builders as a profession feel threatened because their livelihood is in jeopardy."

"But we must determine, as a community, what we want Andover to look like," McKay continued.

"This is what we are trying to address."

Croplands

One-fourth of the potential cropland in Massachusetts is in use, producing about 12 percent of our diet, Massachusetts Audubon says. The U.S. Soil Conservation Service reports that 400,000 more acres could be used for agriculture; this would double the state's present cultivated cropland.

There is now a perfectly acceptable alternative to buying a Saab.

Lease one.

Depending on your financial status, your tax status and the business you're in, leasing a Saab may well be a more intelligent alternative than buying one (an intelligent enough idea in its own right).

For further details, we recommend a visit to our Saab dealership.

Of course, there are other car dealers who could give you an intelligent rundown on the pros and cons of leasing versus buying.

But we give you an intelligent car to go with it.

Backstage . . . Proudly Presents:

It takes a lot to produce an Academy Award Winner — it needs a clever and imaginative idea — months of careful planning — a group effort to produce the show — careful direction — and a cast of stars. Backstage has it ALL and it's a sure Winner!

The new Backstage Lounge which was appropriately named because of its theatrical ambience, has added a new and exciting dimension to the now popular Backstreet. The "classy little restaurant" has expanded its facilities and now combines its continental dinner menu with "A Bite With The Stars." A celebrity studded luncheon menu starring favorites like "Turk Douglas,"

"Buster Crab" and "Marcello Pastrami" are only a few of the performers that must be seen to be believed.

One cannot forget the all time greats like Quiche-A-Blanca, The Crepes of Wrath and The Godfather. The menu is unique — entirely different. The DeAngelis family may have added a new look for Backstreet, but the old tradition of pride and quality shines through in their newest production.

The "stars come out at night" is an understatement at Backstage. Twenty celebrity named appetizers: Bogart, Cagney, Sinatra, Monroe and Mansfield, to mention a few, are all prepared with an individual flair and are sure to satisfy the early evening appetite, as well as the after theatre crowd. The Oyster Bar will also offer an array of fresh seafood delicacies.

The theatrics of Backstage would not be complete without show quality entertainment. Songs of the forties, fifties favorites, and the ever popular Broadway show tunes provide a relaxed listening atmosphere. Quiet conversation can be enjoyed and good piano music appreciated.

The reviews are in and the critics agree — a visit to Backstreet is a unique experience. You're sure to feel like a "Star" after a visit to Backstage, 19 Essex Street, Andover. Reservations: 475-4411.

A MATTER OF RECORD

Before you put property up for sale, be sure that you are the owner. Strange things do happen in the world of real estate.

Take the case of the man who decided to sell a woodlot he had been paying taxes on for years. His assumption was that his stewardship vested title of the land with him.

It doesn't work that way. Title to property is passed in very specific ways — ordinarily by a deed signed by all the owners. Also, ownership should be a matter of record in either the Registry of Deeds, Registry of Probate (if the land is required by will) or in the Land Court in the case of registered land.

The point is this. If you are paying taxes on land you do not own, or in which you have only a partial interest; you are merely preserving the status quo — not improving the title. If this is your case, don't wait until you decide to sell the perfect title. Do it now!

*****

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

"We Sell America"... Right Here In Your Home Town!

Teacher's Contract Approved

The school committee Tuesday night approved a new, three-year contract with the Andover Education Association, that the teachers had already ratified.

It will be signed at the first committee meeting after town meeting.

The teachers will be receiving a six percent increase across the board for 1980-81 and again in 1981-82, and seven percent in the third year.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said that it could have been "a very, very difficult year" for negotiations, when one looked at the tax crunch and definite plans to close a school and reduce the teaching force.

But, he complimented the teachers on the "exceptional way" they conducted themselves, and for helping come up with a reduction in force clause that was not based strictly on seniority, but on the performance as well.

"It could have been simply for the AEA to hold the line on the strict seniority," he said. "This says an awful lot about the educators in Andover."

School Chairman Elaine Viehmann added her praise for the teachers for attempting to reach an agreement in a "positive" fashion.
